

International Project
“E-learning - as a Road to Communicating in the Multicultural Environment”
University of Silesia in Katowice (Poland), Faculty of Ethnology and Sciences of Education in Cieszyn – Coordinator
University of Ostrava (Czech Republic) - partner,
Matej Bel University in Banská Bystrica (Slovak Republic) - partner,
International Visegrad Fund – financial support

1.08.2009 – 30.11.2009

The poster features a blue background with a white map of the Visegrad region. The map highlights four cities: Katowice, Ostrava, Cieszyn, and Banská Bystrica. Surrounding the map are icons for an email address (@), a globe, and a WWW symbol. Below the map, the text reads: "Theoretical and Practical Aspects of Distance Learning". The main title is "The International Project 'E-learning - As a Road to Communicating in the Multicultural Environment'". The coordinator is the University of Silesia (Poland), and partners are the University of Ostrava (Czech Republic) and Matej Bel University in Banská Bystrica (Slovak Republic). Financial support is provided by the International Visegrad Fund. The aim of the project is to foster cooperation between the Czech Republic, Poland, and Slovakia, promoting regional cooperation through research, educational projects, e-learning, and LLL programmes. The project website is <http://www.weinoc.us.edu.pl/docs/Project-EL2009.pdf>. Logos for the University of Silesia, Universitas Cieszynensis, Visegrad Fund, and Universitas Matej Belii are at the bottom.

About Project “E-learning - as a Road to Communicating in the Multicultural Environment”

Conference "Theoretical and Practical Aspects of Distance Learning"
Programme of Conference

Workshop "Distance Course Design Using CLMS MOODLE"

Public relations